Beware of Copy Cats.

Thursday, May 29, 2008

Like any outstanding technology, given time, it is likely to be copied and Autopot is no exception. It is a fact of life that I must learn to accept. However, it is much harder to do so especially when it came from a highly respectable country (UK) and from someone who (while officially an Autopot Sole distributor) was legally, ethically and morally obligated to protect this unique technology from unscrupulous copy-cats. The protector became the imposter. So do not be misled into believing that Aqua-valve and accessories are genuine Autopot products. The deception does not stop there. He has gone to the extent in naming his company as "Autopot".

At the moment, I am keeping all options open and legal action is one.
